ART AND DESIGN SERVICES

ABOUT US

With almost 40 years combined experience in the logistics of Fine Art and Interior Design, the team at Foxley Art and Design Services is equipped to meet every one of your shipping, storage, and project planning needs.

Whether you're consolidating items from all over the world for an interior design project, or simply moving a fragile and priceless work from point A to point B, our mission at Foxley is to make the process seamless and effortless for you. Do you have a large interior design project? Let us do the heavy lifting. Our online photographic inventory system allows you to stay up to date with what we've collected or received so far, and what you're still waiting on before the big day of final installation. Did you orchestrate a sale between two different parties? Let us get it to the buyer at a price and timeline that makes sense for everyone.

Our network of partners spans the globe, so no matter where your piece is coming from—or going to—you can trust it will be in professional, experienced hands every step of the way.

Think of us as your logistics concierge. We're here to make all the arrangements on your behalf, streamline your involvement, and make sure that your client is as happy with you as you will be with us. We've got the experience under our belts to know what you want and need, and our expertise in the nuts and bolts of customs formalities, chain of custody, and transport industry quirks means we know how to foresee—and prevent—the unpleasant surprises that might otherwise interrupt your most important projects.

At Foxley, we treat our client relationships with the same white glove service we give to the invaluable artworks and design pieces you place in our care. We offer a bespoke service for a bespoke industry.

SERVICES

Local and domestic transport

With daily Manhattan and Long Island trucks, bi-weekly east coast shuttles, and monthly national routes, our network covers almost every major US city for all your collections and deliveries.

Assembly and installation

Our team of highly experienced handlers can assemble, mount and install a wide range of items from furniture, and shelves, to art and sculpture. We have the resources to get it done.

Packing and crating

Using industry standard methods and materials, our packing team will design, construct and pack your items in the safest way possible to keep even the most fragile items safe in transit or storage.

International shipping

A trusted worldwide network of established white glove movers, art shippers and freight forwarders, allows us to handle any import or export requirements, via air, road or sea.

Oversize, heavy and rigging

Whilst older metro buildings are some of the finest examples of architecture, their small elevators are not always the most convenient for larger items. At Foxley, we go further to build a bespoke solution for any problem.

SERVICES

White Glove handling

For hassle free safe transport, our white glove handling service offers full packing and unpacking, placement, installation, and debris/recycling removal.

Storage

Whether collected by Foxley, or received in by a 3rd party shipper, once your items arrive at our temperature-controlled facility, they'll be processed into our location tracked managed storage system. You can relax knowing your items are safe and secure whether stored for days, weeks or years.

Import / Export Documents

International documents can be complicated, our experienced team can assist with document completion to take away the worry.

Photographic inventory

With smart features and in-depth reporting, our inventory can be customized to your specific needs, making it a powerful tool for galleries, private collectors and interior designers alike.

Pick and Pack

Showroom storage, pick and pack, pre and post retail services, we're ideally set-up to help with whatever your showroom or gallery needs. We can even collect, pack, and release to your client or their shipper too.
